Modern Foreign Languages Curriculum

Intent

MFL teaching at St Andrew's aims to give all children a strong understanding of the world around them whilst acquiring specific skills and knowledge to help them to understand and speak languages unfamiliar to them, particularly French.

Our MFL teachings uses an enquiry process to allow pupils to learn for themselves. These processes, at work in the whole curriculum, are suited to the declarative and process knowledge required to be linguistic.

Our curriculum enables children's curiosity, questioning and a willingness to learn a new language. This in turn, ensures that our children are confident, life-long learners who will explore the world around them.

Within MFL, we have identified the granular knowledge to allow our pupils to become successful in a new language. This is set out in more detail in our termly plans.

Granular Knowledge in MFL

1. Understanding and responding to spoken language

Ensures that children develop a secure understanding of each key block of knowledge and concepts to progress to the next stage – reading, writing and speaking in a new language.

2. Spoken Language

Ensures children learn to speak with increasing confidence, fluency and spontaneity. Supports the children's communication skills including discussions, pronunciation and intonation.

3. Questioning

Uses 'big questions' of meaning, purpose and truth to explore the world around them. Also supports misconceptions to be addressed and challenged.

Procedural Knowledge in MFL

All curriculum areas in our primary curriculum have process knowledge. Process knowledge is closely linked to our enquiry-based approach to learning. The procedural knowledge that are required to be developed in MFL in order that pupils can become linguists are:

- Investigation,
- Expression
- Interpretation
- Application
- Discernment
- Analysis
- Synthesis

- Evaluation

Procedural knowledge of being a linguist:

Investigation

- asking relevant questions about the language;
- broaden cultural experiences and investigate a new way of speaking

Expression

- the ability to develop accurate pronunciation and intonation so that others understand when they are reading aloud or using familiar words and phrases;
- the ability to present ideas and information orally to a range of audiences

Interpretation

- the ability to broaden vocabulary and develop ability to understand new words that are introduced into familiar written material
- the ability to suggest meanings

Application

- making the association in Geography between human and physical; different process of construction in DT, in Science between chemistry, maths and physics; in MFL between English and French

Discernment

- explaining the significance of a new culture and the importance of understanding a language correctly

Analysis

- distinguishing between opinion, belief, and fact
- distinguishing between the feminine, masculine and neuter forms and the conjugation of high-frequency verbs

Synthesis

- linking significant features of languages together

Evaluation

- the ability to hold a conversation in French

Processes for Effective Learning in MFL

1. Motivating Learners

This includes developing lessons to ensure engagement and positive learning. Ensuring that using the essential language is clear. Having high expectations to ensure children feel confident to try something new.

2. Incorporating Culture

This includes identifying a specific culture and incorporating this in a non-judgemental environment. Becoming a diverse society by engaging with new ways of life.

3. Present and explain findings

This involves presenting findings in a range of different ways; discussion, written and through ability to read in French. It includes the skill of communicating findings concisely, suggesting interpretations of findings and analysing the range of information present.

4. Evaluate

This involves evaluating the conclusions made through enquiry and how this will impact on our own lives and the world around us.

Implementation

MFL is a statutory subject of the curriculum for all pupils in KS2. The curriculum should reflect a high-quality MFL education which 'fosters pupils' curiosity and deepen their understanding of the world.' (National Curriculum 2014). We comply with the legal requirements for the teaching of MFL by ensuring full coverage of 'The National Curriculum programmes of study for Modern Foreign Languages for KS2 2014'

MFL is taught consistently, once a week for up to one hour in all KS2 classes across St Andrew's, but is also something that KS1 will use to ensure diversity through the taking of the register in different languages, or greeting children and families using visual and written aids in a range of languages.

Teachers assess children's work in MFL by making formative and summative assessments throughout the school year. All pupils are encouraged to evaluate their own learning and to suggest ways to progress further. This is supported through the use of summative activities in the children's MFL Folders. These records enable the teacher to make an annual assessment of progress for each child, and to pass this assessment information on to the child's next teacher at the end of the year.
